

Experimental Frontier Guidelines

Please consider future XX Frontier experiments in the light of the role that might be played by custom integrated circuits. What ASIC designs are already underway or planned? Are there opportunities for significant improvements in capability or cost reduction that might be made possible with ASIC design?